(2) Hardware forming part of the key technical setup may only be located in premises which adhere to a high level of information security. Without prejudice to additional requirements which the Authority may deem fit to impose on a case by case basis and adopting a risk-based approach, the Authority considers that such premises should seek to conform to the latest industry standards.

Provided further that the above applies solely in relation to games which the relevant game provider is lawfully allowed to offer in terms of this Directive and other applicable regulatory instruments. Games which the relevant game provider is not allowed to offer in terms of this Directive and any other applicable regulatory instruments may not be availed of by any licensee.

23. (1) Where the prior approval of the Authority is required for the addition of a new gaming vertical and, or for the addition of a new game that uses a random number generator and, or is based on a game engine that is not already approved by the Authority, an application for such approval shall be made in such manner and be accompanied by such documents and certification as the Authority may require.

Where a licensee wishes to update or change critical elements of a game, including the random number generator and, or one or more parts of the game engine, the licensee shall seek prior approval from the Authority according to the process established by it, which may include the payment of an administrative fee, the filing of a form, and the provision of documents including re-certification of the random number generator and, or game engine should the Authority deem it necessary.

Provided that this shall be on a voluntary basis and B2B licensees may provide material supplies outside the scope of their B2B licence:

Provided further that in any such case, material supplies provided to B2B licensees shall be assessed on a case-by-case basis in terms of article 27(3) of this Directive.

Part VI – Outsourcing

- 26. A licensee shall take responsibility for third parties to whom it outsources any aspect of its business related to its licensed activities:

Provided that without prejudice to any other applicable law, when the outsourcing service provider is an authorised person, in case of any breach the Authority shall determine whether responsibility for such breach lies with the licensee, the outsourcing service provider, or both to the same or varying extents.

- 27. (1) Licensees obtaining a critical gaming supply from an outsourcing service provider shall ensure that such provider is duly in possession of a B2B licence or a recognition notice to provide such critical gaming supply, in terms of the Gaming Authorisations Regulations and any applicable binding instruments.

(2) Licensees shall inform the Authority of any service provider offering or purporting to offer a critical gaming supply to a B2C licensee without the necessary licence in terms of the Act and all other regulatory instruments.

(3) Licensees obtaining a material gaming supply from an outsourcing service provider shall ensure that such provider is in possession of a material supply certificate issued by the Authority, or that the material gaming supply is duly approved by the Authority on a case-by-case basis in the context of evaluating the operation of such licensee in terms of the Authorisations Regulations and any applicable regulatory instruments.

(4) Where the outsourcing service provider provides a service which does not require a licence or approval by the Authority, licensees shall ensure that the terms on which they contract with such outsourcing service provider:

- (a) Require such outsourcing service provider to conduct itself, in carrying out activities on behalf of the licensee, as if the outsourcing service provider was bound by the same regulatory instruments as the licensee;

- 28. (1) Outsourcing service providers that manage one or more websites and, or gaming premises pertaining to a B2C licensee, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be acting for and on behalf of the licensee who shall therefore be responsible for their actions insofar as the licence issued by the Authority is concerned.

(2) When such service provider enters into contractual agreements with players directly, and, or handles both player registration as well as player deposits and withdrawals, the service provider shall be deemed to require a licence to provide a gaming service unless the registration and payments are being processed solely to facilitate the gaming service provided by the B2C licensee to which it provides the service, in accordance with the B2C licensee's policies and procedures as notified to and approved by the Authority and the applicable Maltese laws:

Provided that in any such case, it shall be presumed that a licence to provide a gaming service is required unless and until the B2C licensee and, or the service provider prove that such functions are being carried solely to facilitate the provision of the B2C licensee's gaming service, for and on behalf of the licensee.

- 29. When a licensee contracts an outsourcing service provider which is part of the same corporate group as the licensee, the above provisions apply equally:

Provided that where the licence has been obtained for the corporate group, that group as a whole shall be deemed to be the licensee and the provisions of this Part shall be construed accordingly. For the sake of clarity in any such case the provision of services from one entity in the corporate group to another would not be deemed to be outsourcing for the purposes of this Part as it would all be deemed to be carried out by the licensee. The provisions of this Part would apply to any activity, function, product or service which is provided by an outsourcing service provider which is not within the corporate group licence.

Part VI – Player Accounts

Registration and ongoing Monitoring

- 30. (1) A B2C licensee shall not permit a person to engage in gaming unless that person is registered as a player and holds an account with the B2C licensee.

Provided further that licensees providing their services by remote means shall also require an e-mail address or other means of contacting the player by remote means.

(3) The information supplied by the player shall be verified and due diligence performed as required in terms of applicable AML legislation and procedures:

Provided that if at any time the B2C licensee becomes aware, or reasonably suspects, that any or all of the information provided by the player is materially false, the B2C licensee shall cancel that player's registration and take such other steps as may be required in terms of AML legislation:

Provided further that in any such case, if in terms of AML legislation there are no impediments to the player being refunded any amount remaining in his account, such amount shall be refunded when the account is closed. The B2C licensee shall not be obliged to refund any amounts lost, and may not pay out any winnings made.

(4) The B2C licensee shall at all times keep, or have ready and unfettered access to, a secure list of all registered players and a copy of all documents obtained in the process of conducting verification and due diligence.

(5) B2C licensees shall have systems in place to detect identical or similar player details, as well as other mechanisms such as systems detecting the use of the same internet protocol address and, or device identifier and, or SIM card identifier by different players, or such other mechanisms as may be appropriate, and prior to activating an account, it must be reasonably satisfied that the applicant does not have an existing account registered with the licensee, and that the player is otherwise still eligible to participate in the games:

Provided that where the B2C licensee allows players to hold more than one account, the Authority must be reasonably satisfied at all times that the licensee is in a position to ensure that each account is duly identified as pertaining to that player and linked accordingly such that the following criteria are adhered to:

- (a) The player's holistic activity is taken into account for the purpose of conducting adequate ongoing supervision of the player;
- (b) Responsible gaming limits are to be implemented across all the player's accounts, unless the request for the limit relates only to specific games, or gaming verticals as provided for in the Player Protection Directive (Directive 2 of 2018);
- (c) If the player self-excludes, that player shall be effectively excluded from all the games offered by the licensee, unless the request for self-exclusion related only to specific games or gaming verticals as provided for in the Player Protection Directive;
- (d) Anti-collusion measures are sufficiently robust to ensure that the multiple accounts system is not abused; and
- (e) All the accounts are monitored and decisions that trigger customer interaction, including but not limited to proactive assistance to players that are identified as being at risk of problem gaming issues, are based on the observed behaviour and transactions across all the accounts:

Provided further that the above is a non-exhaustive list and the licensee shall ensure that no other obligations stemming from any regulatory instrument or any other applicable law is prejudiced.

- 31. B2C licensees shall conduct ongoing monitoring of their players to prevent fraud, money laundering and funding of terrorism, in such manner as may be required by AML legislation and in accordance with their risk management policies.

Inactive Accounts

- 32. (1) A B2C licensee shall make amply clear in its terms and conditions the circumstances in which a player's account shall be deemed to be inactive, and the consequences thereof.

(2) A B2C licensee shall, no less than thirty (30) days before the player's account is due to become inactive, notify the player that his account is due to become inactive, and remind the player of the consequences thereof, including any fees that may be charged in connection therewith. Such notification shall include the option to withdraw the funds in order not to incur any fees associated with inactivity, without prejudice to the B2C licensee's procedures for allowing withdrawals and any obligations in respect thereof in terms of any other applicable law. For the sake of clarity, where the player is not eligible to conduct a withdrawal in terms of law or in terms of the B2C licensee's procedures, the fact that his account is due to become inactive does not in any way change that player's ineligibility to conduct the withdrawal.

(3) Fees may only be charged to an inactive account as long as that account does not go into a negative balance.

(4) Fees may not be charged to an account which is deemed to be inactive following a self-exclusion requested by the player throughout the period of self-exclusion:

Provided that after the period of self-exclusion lapses, inactivity fees may be charged if the player remains inactive after the lapse of the self-exclusion, for such period as the licensee may determine in its terms and conditions, which period shall not be less than one (1) month:

Provided further that the operator may, in cases where this does not infringe on applicable AML legislation, close the player's account and refund the remaining balance to the player that self-excludes for a period greater than six (6) months:

Provided further, for the sake of clarity, that the operator's responsible gaming and AML legislation obligations trump commercial considerations.

(5) Fees may not be charged to an account which has been excluded from playing by the operator itself, unless there were clear and justifiable reasons for that exclusion.

- 33. Subsequent to the initiation of the charging procedure or mechanism, the player may request reimbursement of any fees paid and the B2C licensee is to reimburse such fees when the player could not access his account due to health-related impediments:

Provided that in any such case, the onus shall be on the player to provide adequate proof of such justification, in the absence of which the B2C licensee shall not be obliged to reimburse the fees.

- 34. (1) Without prejudice to AML legislation, a B2C licensee may elect to close an inactive account rather than impose, or continue imposing, a fee for inactivity.
- (2) In such cases, the B2C licensee shall endeavour to refund any remaining balance to the player, whether by remitting the balance directly to the player or otherwise by contacting the player based on information available to the B2C licensee.
- (3) If the B2C licensee is unsuccessful in remitting the balance to the player, then it may:
- (a) Refrain from closing the player account; or
 - (b) Close the account and appropriate the remaining balance in its favour solely in accordance with sub-article (4) hereof.
- (4) Notwithstanding the fact that the player funds constitute a separate patrimony, in the case envisaged in sub-paragraph (b) of sub-article (3) hereof, the B2C licensee may appropriate the remaining balance and acquisitive prescription shall prevail in its favour if the following conditions are satisfied:
- (a) After failing to remit the funds to the inactive player, the B2C licensee shall send a final notice to the player informing him that the funds shall be appropriated by the B2C licensee if the player does not provide a means for the funds to be remitted to him;
 - (b) Such notice shall be sent to the player through every means of communication available to the B2C licensee, including by post;
 - (c) The B2C licensee may prescribe the remaining funds in its favour after the lapse of such time, after the final notice has been sent to the player in terms of the immediately preceding paragraphs, as may be laid out in a clear manner in its terms and conditions, which terms shall be reproduced in the notice sent to the player:
- Provided that such time shall in no case be less than five (5) years from the date of final notice to the player.
- (5) Any player funds appropriated by the B2C licensee in terms of this article shall be used to fund responsible gaming endeavours, whether of the B2C licensee itself or of third parties.

Part VII – Limited Duration Licence

- 35. (1) Applications for a limited duration licence shall be made in the manner prescribed by the Authority.
- (2) Only a gaming service or a gaming supply that is by its very nature temporary and cannot continue beyond the prescribed timeframe, and consists of a singular event, or a number of game instances linked to the same event, shall be eligible to apply for a limited duration licence:
- Provided that only lotteries and lottery-style games, including progressive lotteries and scratch cards, are eligible to be provided in virtue of a limited duration licence.

(3) The Authority shall not issue a limited duration licence that exceeds two (2) months in duration, and any one person, whether the person is the operator, organiser or the person or entity on behalf of whom such gaming activity has been organised, or is being organised shall not be awarded limited duration licences which in aggregate duration, exceed six (6) months in a single calendar year.

Part VIII – Corporate Group Licence

36. (1) Applications for a corporate group licence shall be made in the manner prescribed by the Authority, and shall inter alia include the following:

- (b) The gaming services and, or gaming supplies provided within and outside the group by the companies covered by the corporate group licence;
- (c) The company that shall be designated as the nominal holder of the corporate group licence;
- (d) The company that, without prejudice to the joint and several liability of the companies covered by the corporate group licence to satisfy regulatory obligations towards the Authority, shall be vested with primary responsibility to satisfy information and reporting requirements in terms of applicable regulatory instruments; and
- (e) The company that, without prejudice to the joint and several liability of the companies covered by the corporate group licence to satisfy regulatory obligations towards the Authority, shall be vested with primary responsibility to pay the relevant dues to the Authority in terms of applicable regulatory instruments.

(2) Where, within a B2C corporate group licence, there are entities that provide a critical gaming supply solely to other entities within the corporate group licence, no B2B licence shall be required.

(3) Where entities within a corporate group licence provide critical gaming supplies in or from Malta, or through a Maltese legal entity, to entities outside of the corporate group licence, a B2B licence shall be required.

Provided further that without prejudice to the generality of its powers, the Authority may order the licensee to revert to the status quo ante within a timeframe specified by the Authority where it is satisfied that the change in direct or indirect shareholding prejudices the fitness and propriety of the licensee, or otherwise hinders its suitability for a licence;

Provided that for the purpose of this sub-paragraph, “net proceeds” means gross wagers less the aggregate sum of prizes paid out and expenses incurred directly in the organisation of the non-profit game:

Provided further that the Authority may, where it deems necessary, request proof of the expenses incurred, and any expenses which are not proved to the Authority’s satisfaction shall be disregarded for the purpose of calculating the net proceeds of the non-profit game;

(2) Licensees must implement safeguards accordingly depending on the risk presented by the particular payment method which is being allowed. The risk rating of the payment methods used by each player shall also be taken into account for the purpose of rating the risk presented by the player himself.

Part XI – Sharing of Liquidity

- 46. (1) B2C licensees that offer pool betting, betting exchange, peer-to-peer poker, peer-to-peer bingo, and, or other peer-to-peer games or jackpots may share liquidity with operators licensed in other jurisdictions, whether or not through a separate network.
- (2) In any such case, the B2C licensee shall ensure that it has at least the following information on players which participate in games with players from operators licensed in other jurisdictions, without prejudice to the other requirements envisaged in the applicable regulatory instruments:
- (a) The amounts deposited and wagered by its players in such games; and
 - (b) The amounts won or lost by its players in such games.
- (3) The B2C licensee shall also ensure that in any agreement which it enters into with operators licensed in other jurisdictions and, or the operator of a network allowing for the sharing of liquidity, it retains the right to request a copy of the game transactions in order to ensure compliance with its regulatory responsibilities should the need for such transactions arise.
- (4) Without prejudice to any clause in the relevant commercial agreements, the B2C licensee shall remain at all times responsible for the payment of any dues to its players notwithstanding the practical arrangements resulting for an arrangement for the sharing of player liquidity.

Part XII – Automated Reporting

- 47. (1) The Authority may, at any time, subject to a reasonable period of transition, require a licensee, a specific category of licensees or all licensees to connect any of its systems to a system operated by the Authority, and to maintain such connection at all times.
- (2) In the event that the Authority imposes the requirement referred to in sub-article (1), the Authority may specify the specifications necessary for it to be able to, and the manner in which it shall operate the monitoring system in a binding instrument, and licensees shall modify or upgrade their systems as necessary to ensure their compatibility with the system and the requirements of the Authority.
- 48. (1) The Authority may use an automated reporting system for:
- (a) receiving reports or statements which licensees are obliged to submit to the Authority in terms of applicable regulatory instruments;
 - (b) monitoring and receiving information relating to the games and the gaming operation, including player, game and financial data as may be required by the Authority to fulfil its regulatory objectives;
 - (c) investigating the compliance by the licensee with the regulatory instruments and any other applicable legislation, including any laws or regulations at any time in force for the prevention of money laundering;
 - (d) the compilation of statistics and analytics in an aggregated format and research; and
 - (e) any other purpose required by the Authority in fulfilling its regulatory objectives, or as may be specified in binding instruments issued by the Authority from time to time.

(2) Any information collected by the Authority in terms of sub-article (1)(d) may be made available to the public.

(3) The Authority shall not be liable for any compensation to any person for loss or damage due to a fault in the monitoring system, or in the telecommunications system used to operate the automated reporting system.

49. Where the obligations referred to in article 47 have been imposed, a licensee shall ensure that its systems, and the means of distance communications through which its systems are connected to the automated reporting system, comply with any standards or requirements established by the Authority, and remain so compliant throughout the duration of the licence, and shall not be modified, tampered with, or re-programmed by any person without the prior written approval of the Authority.

Part XIII – General

50. For the sake of clarity and notwithstanding anything contained in this Directive, the Authority in all cases reserves the right to require any authorised person to submit further information, documentation, surveillance footage and, or any other thing which it may, in its discretion, deem necessary for the achievement of the regulatory objectives, on a regular or ad hoc basis.

Part XIV – Transitory

51. (1) In relation to the obligations envisaged in Part II, the following provisions apply to existing licensees:
- (a) They shall inform the Authority of all persons that shall be responsible for a key function at the earliest opportunity, and in no case later than the 30th September 2018;
 - (b) Where such persons have not already undergone the Authority's vetting and approval process, the relevant forms and accompanying documentation shall also be completed by not later than 30th September 2018; and
 - (c) Until such time as all key persons are notified to, and assessed by, the Authority, the responsibility for the vacant key functions shall vest temporarily in the Key Official appointed under the Remote Gaming Regulations (S.L. 438.04) or, in the absence thereof, in the legal representatives of the licensee.

Provided that as of 20 October 2021, without prejudice to any instance prior to such date where the Authority required the directors of the licensee to temporarily assume responsibility for any vacant key function, the provisions of article 5A shall prevail.

(2) Existing licensees shall inform the Authority of all material gaming suppliers whose services they make use of, and shall provide any documentation in relation thereto which the Authority may require, by not later than 30th September 2018.

(3) Existing licensees shall complete the risk assessment referred to in article 18 of this Directive and submit it to the Authority by not later than the 31st March 2019.

(4) Existing licensees shall ensure that all contracts with outsourcing service providers adhere to the requirements envisaged in article 27(4) by not later than the 31st December 2018:

Provided that this is without prejudice to the Authority's right and powers to demand any information or documentation from the licensee in terms of the applicable regulatory instruments.

(5) In relation to the provisions relating to inactive accounts envisaged in Part VI of this Directive, the following provisions shall apply to existing licensees:

- (a) Players that are already inactive on 1st August 2018 shall continue to be treated on the basis of the terms and conditions which they had accepted. No changes may be applied in relation thereto unless the player logs in and accepts such changes in accordance with the Player Protection Directive;
- (b) Players that are already inactive on 1st August 2018 shall be deemed to be dormant accounts when no transaction has been recorded on such player's account for thirty (30) calendar months. In such a case, the licensee shall remit the player's balance to the player or, if the player cannot be satisfactorily located, to the Authority:

Provided that no claim shall lie by the player against a licensee who has remitted the balance in the player's account to the Authority, in relation to such balance.

(6) For the sake of clarity, any change to the conditions relating to inactive accounts shall be deemed to be a material change to the terms and conditions as envisaged in the Player Protection Directive. If the relevant player logs in and accepts the changes, the provisions of this sub-article shall not apply and shall be superseded by the terms and conditions as accepted by the player.

52. (1) Persons and entities that provide a back-end service from Malta, to any person or entity in Malta, or through a Maltese legal entity, that do not, on 1st August 2018, hold a licence issued by the Authority in virtue of the fact that they also act as game providers, shall apply for the relevant licence or recognition notice, as the case may be, and provide the necessary information and documentation, by not later than 31st December 2018.

(2) Persons and entities that provide a gaming service or critical gaming supply from Malta, to any person or entity in Malta, or through a Maltese legal entity, in virtue of a licence issued by the competent authority in another EU or EEA jurisdiction, shall notify the Authority in terms of the recognition notice procedure, and provide the necessary information and documentation, by not later than 31st December 2018.

 - (f) Unauthorised access to data through the management interface or any other system interfacing with the essential components;
